

Obituary

Died: Sunday, July 26, 2020

Jai Santana Davis was born January 25, 1977 in Indianapolis, Indiana to Eric Cork and Sharon Davis.

Jai completed his primary and secondary education in the Indianapolis Public School System. He attended schools #43 and Broad Ripple High School.

Jai was baptized in an early age and later converted to Muslim faith in 2000 where he was the top Final Call Salesman.

Jai loved basketball and listening to music. He also really enjoyed looking through his picture albums. At the age of 12, Jai drew a picture that was shown on TV and inducted into the Indianapolis Art Museum.

Jai truly loved people and was a genuine friend and protector. Jai was a father who raised two children, Jaiyah and Tykill Wilson, from birth that he cherished as his own.

Jai departed this life July 25, 2020 at age of forty-three years old. He was preceded in death by his older brother, Tommy Brandon Davis; and great-grandmothers, Camille Bell and Lela Davis.

He leaves to cherish his memories his daughter, Jaiyah Wilson; son, Tykill Wilson; father, Eric Cork; mother; Sharon Davis; sister, Kenmia Davis; grandmother, Sharon Rainey; and a hosts of aunts, uncles, cousins, extended relatives and many friends.
